KING KALAKAUA'S WIFE.

NEWS FROM THE ISLAND FAILS TO FLUSTRATE HER.

She Tells a Reporter All About Her Trip Abroad-Colonel Boyd Gives His Version of the Alleged Rebellion in the Kingdom-The Queen's Future Program.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Queen Kapiolani, and her company, consisting of Princess Liliuokolani, Gen. Dominis, her husband, Gen. C. J. Iaukae and Col. J. H. Boyd, returned yesterday from England, where they took in the jubilee, floated a loan of $2,000,-000, and had a good time generally. If the news of the Hawaiian revolution depressed their spirits they didn't let anybody suspect the fact. Everybody was apparently in the best of humor.

As her majesty swept into the Victoria she bowed graciously to those gathered to meet her, and throughout the day her face was all smiles. As one of the party said: "These little offairs occur so often on the island that they are hardly noticed. However, we don't know what has been done this time except from your paper." The revenue cutter Grant, under orders from the state department at Washington, was anchored down the bay Sunday night awaiting the arrival of the Servia so as to take off the royal party when the steamer arrived. On hoard the cutter were H. A. P. Carter, the Hawaiian minister; Consul General Allen, and A. S. Brown, chief clerk of the state department, who had been deputed by the authorities at Washington to weicome her majesty. They came to quarantine bright and early. The royal party was taken off and the Servia had fired a royal salute. The Grant steamed up the river to Twenty-sixth street. Here the Minnesota fired another salute and the royal party disembarked. Carriages were in waiting and took the party to the Victoria house.

The queen entered on the arm of Mr. Carter and the princess on that of her husband. Both ladies were dressed quietly in back cloth dresses, trimmed with jet, and looked very much the same as when they left. There were no traces of any trouble in either of their faces, and they bowed and smiled right and left as they recognized familiar countenances. Their apartments were those which they had occupied on their previous visit. They were followed by a mass of baggage, all very English. New trunks, rugs and hat boxes were in great profusion. Everyhody was awfuily hungry, so Mr. Carter was the only one who could be seen for the moment. He said her majesty was in no way alarmed about the news from the Hawaiian Islands. It was simply a change of ministry which would affect him in no way whatever as minister. These potitions Graining, Glazing and Paper-hanging. All way whatever as minister. These potitions work neatly and promptly executed. Office and shop, north side of Fourth between Market and Limestone, streets.

Way whatever as minister. These potitions were not of partisan appointment, and, moreover, the new government really belonged to the party of which he is a more longed to the party of which he is a member, and its premier, Mr. Green, is an old friend and ally.

After luncheon a reporter cailed upon the royal party. Referring to her trip abroad the queen said she really had enjoyed every garden party there and a never ending round of amusement everywhere. Of the members of the royal family the queen most fancied the Princess of Wales. She was the most democratio and took more pains to please and to show the visitors little attentions. The Prince of Waies was also a great Will practice in the courts of Mason and ad- favorite. When the conversation turned to politics the reporter was referred to Col. Boyd. "Let me tell you," he began, "that none of us know much about what has happened at home. A., we know is what is in the papers, and all that seems to emanate from one source. We have done what we started to do, and now we will wait to hear from home. I can say very little. I don't think there has been any revolution. If it was W. P. Castie would not be in San Francisco. He has too large interests at stake to leave the country in troublesome times. Besides he is a member of the party reported now in power."

"Who is the new premier?" "He is W. L. Green, who was a premier of the present king's first cabinet. He was ousted in just such a row when Gibson came

He is a lawyer-office hours 11 to 12 o'ciock-but his principal husiness is ioaning money for English and Irish capitalists. The balance of the cabinet are all young men who have not beeu iong on the island. I don't believe the published list can be correct, as these men would hardly get the positions from the Missionary party. "What is the Missionary party?"
"It is composed mostly of the descendants of the first missionaries, who found trading more profitable than preaching. Stili they hang by Scripture reading a good deal in this wise: Two of them will be together at a native meeting. One while reading says to the other, 'Say, old boy, I've 1,500 feet of barbed wire. What will you give for it?' 'Three cents a pound.' The first goes ou reading from the Bibie, 'In that day, etc.' Suddenly he leans over and says, sell for that. Think it over again and give me an answer when I finish the chapter. There you have it. I hate the Missionary party. You see there are not many voters on the islands. Only property owners and those who read and write can vote. The crowd who seem to have kicked up this row are not voters. The Honolulu Rifles you hear about are about one hundred young men and not one of them is a voter."

"Who is Gibson, the deposed premier?" "He is an American and a very smart man. During the late war he was captain of a privateer. Then he was a Morman Finally he drifted to Honolulu and went into the country to raise sheep. He was head and shoulders intellectually above all the people round him. Then he came to the legislature. He was a fine orator and could make you believe black was white. He rapidiy rose, and in his rise broke up a half dozen cabinets. The king made him premier, and all the country owns is due to him. He encouraged immigration and helped in every way to build up the country. In doing this he inourred the enmity of Claus Spreckels, and now he is out. I still think the published accounts of the trouble are very much exaggerated. I am as much in the dark as you. It will be some days before we know all about it."

No definite plans have been decided upon regarding the progress of the royal party. They may leave the city to-day and may be not until Thursday. Even then they may be some time in getting home, as they want to visit Niagara Falls, Philadelphia and Chicago before they go to San Francisco. Com-modore Gerhardl, of the Brooklyn navy yard, said yesterday that he had no intention of entertaining the queen, and the only preparations he had made for her visit was to keep a tug ready to land her from the Servia by order of his superiors at Washing-

Fire on the Water. New Haven, Conn., July 13 - The sloop yacht Wave, of New York, with a party of New York gentiemen on board, caught fire yesterday afternoon during the storm and was burned to the water's edge. The accident happened about three miles from the month of New Haven Harbor, and was caused by the explosion of a kerosene oil stove. The party consisted of Capt. Stephen A. Cooper, Charles A. Jones, W. F. Denyse, and Henry Terhune. The last named gentieman was badliy hurt and is now confined to his bed at the New Haven house. The fire spread so rapidly that the yachtmen had barely time to get to their gig. The waves on the sound were running very high and it seemed as if the frail craft would be swamped and its occupants drowned. Fortunately the schooner Lydia Christine hap-pened to be near by and rescued the entire LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—Early in June information was given to the internal revenue department at Washington that crookedness was going on at the "C. F. C." and "Carlisie" distillery warehouses at Frank-fort. The officers found upon examination that it was necessary to reguage 4,400 barreis, and when this was done it was found that 500 barrels were entirely empty, while 1,200 of the 4,400 were short from ten to thirty-eight galions each. An examination heid before Collector Robinson developed the fact that in one of the warehouses was found a siphon and a bucket, besides all the necessary apparatus for "equalizing." impression seems to prevail that the whisky has been stoien. The lowest penalty that can be inflicted is the ordering out of boud the 4,400 barrels reguaged. This will cost the distiliers in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Evading Customs Duties. WASHINGTON, July 13.—Assistant Secretary Maynard has notified collectors of customs that he is informed that in importatious of fabrics and gioves importers are greatly overvaluing the cartons and coverings, so as to reduce the invoiced value of the merchandise, and that the coverings are being made of unusual designs so that this practice may have some excuse under the iaw. Collectors are informed that where such attempts to evade duty are found, the coverings should be assessed at 100 per cent, advalorem,

THE COKERS' TROUBLES.

THEY ARE STILL DETERMINED TO STAND OUT FOR THE ADVANCE.

The Operators Not Feeling Jubilant But Remain Firm- Indianapolis Printers' Strike-Convention of Boss Painters. Street Car Men in Chicago.

Uniontown, Pa., July 18.—The meetings held by the striking cokers throughout the region during the last forty-eight hours indicate that they are still determined to stand out for the advance. Out of 890 votes at West Leisenring only twenty favored a resumption of the oid rate of wages. The operators are not feeling as jubilant as on Friday, but they are firm, and assert that if work is not resumed this week hy the strikers, other men will be put to work and additional Pinkerton men hrought to the region.

The Miners' District Assembly of Knights of Labor is holding a convention here, but no decision in regard to the strike has been reached. The convention will be in session several days. At to-day's meeting resolutions were passed denouncing the importation of armed forces, and calling upou Governor Beaver to remove the Pinkerton men from the region, as their presence reflects on the coke-workers' loyalty to good government, is a menace to their homes and an insult to their patriotism. A FATAL MISTAKE.

A Man Killed His Wife Thinking That She Was a Burglar.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., July 13.-A hearts' rending tragedy occurred at the little village of Royal Center, in the northern part of this county at 2 o'clock this morning. W. A. Garner, a weli-to-do resident, was awakened by hearing someone gropiug about the He saw a dimiy outlined human room. form at a window, and jumping to the conclusion that it was a burgiar drew a revolver from beneath his pillow and fired. The supposed burgiar dropped to the floor without even a groan. Garner reached over to arouse his wife, but her accustomed place in bed was vacant, and then the horrible suspicion dawned upon his mind that perhaps he had taken her for a burgiar.

Hastily leaping from bed and striking a match, he beut over the prostrate form ande tremblingly scanned the features by his flickering light. The suspicion became truth. Lying in her nightgown, a bullethole piercing her body from back to breast, was Mrs. Garner. She was quite dead. Garner quickly aroused the neighbors and toid them of his awful mistake. He was locked up pending an investigation. The poor man is heart-hroken. Coroner Jordan has gone to the scene.

Georgia Asked to Pay $3,000,000.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 18.—Developments in the state legislature were decidedly sensational yes erday. They grew out of a demand from United States Senator Joseph E. Brown, president of the lessees of the Western & Atiantic Railroad company, for $3,-000,000 for improvements. The senator shows that when he took possession of the road it had only 600 inferior cars, while now it has 1,400 latest style cars. This proportion holds good all the way through. The intimation was that if the state did not pay tion to the strike into which the union prin- for these improvements they would be removed. Ex-Congressman William H. Fullon, who is a member of the legislature, at once moved that an injunction be served upon Mr. Brown, and that attachments be served upon all the appurtenances of the road. A hili to the same effect was also reported. Both will be acted upon later.

About 7 p. m. Link started to leave town, Braker, Cooper, Sniderbager and George Broerman going the same way. Suddenly Link whirled and struck Braker a terrible blow over the head, smashing his skull and killing him instantly. Turning from his victim he struck Sniderbager over the eye, knocking him senseless. He started for Broerman, who fled. Link was finally captured and piaced in jaii here.

HOLLAND PATENT, N. Y., July 13 .- President Cleveland and wife arrived here at 5:40 this morning, an honr and six minutes earlier than they were expected. They came from Utica hy special train, comprising one coach and a New York Central hotel car. Only Mrs. Cleveland's maid accompanied them. They waiked from the station to the "Weeds," the residence of Miss Rose Elizabeth Cieveland, near by, where they were heartily received by the president's sister and his niece, Mary L. The people of this place had intended to be out en masse to greet and weicome the president, and it is a matter of general regret that such pleasure was not-

Robbing the Unfortunate.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 13.—The story of the wreek of the steamer Merrimac is one of the most remarkable in the history of marine disasters. The people of the steamer escaped a terribie fate, after being driven ashore on a clear and cloudless night, but their baggage was rifled and many valuable articles stolen while the owners were on deck seeking to save their lives. The robberies were committed by members of the crew when they found there was no immediate danger of the vessel's sinking. The crew afterwards got uproariously drunk and added to the terror and confusion in launching the boats. All the oircumstances considered, it is miraculous that no lives were

Sr. Louis, July 13.—A special from Fort Worth, Texas, says; There was considerable of a flurry in the city at 11 o'clock last night. A rumor became current that a bloody fight had taken place near Little River, south of Fort Worth, on the Missouri Pacific, between robbers and guards. Little River is a watering station, and no news can be received from there. It is certain that officials of the road have cause to fear robbery and secretly put guards on both the north and south bound night trains, and the trainmen are also armed. The north bound train reached here without moiestation. It is stated that Trainmaster Ray also accompanied the party.

Artillery.

The following letter is taken from the New York Sportsman:

LEXINGTON, KY., June 25, 1887. Editor Sportsman-Dear Sir: Havlug seen R. B. Metcaife's statement in Kentneky Stock Farm, concerning the purchase of the stallion Artillery, I now deem it proper to make a statement in reference to this matter, and wish to do so through your valuable paper. On or about January 18th last, Mr. R. B. Metcalfe came to my office in Lexington, Ky., to see me in reference to breeding his mares, and after I had advised him on this point I mentioned to him about the staillou Artillery, and I added that I thought him possibly one of the best natried stallions living. I showed Mr. Metcalfe the stallion's breeding lu Wallace's Stud Book. Mr. Metcalfe then asked me what price would bny the horse. I repiled that from all I could learn, and from what I had recently heard I thought it very doubtful If the horse could be purchased at auy price. That I had understood $25,000 had heen offered and refused for hlm. Mr. Metcalte said to me in these words, I will give thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) tor the horse, Arttllery, on your representation. I then said to Mr. Metcaife that If I could buy the horse I wished to be interested in him. Mr. Metealte replied that he would be glad tor me to have an interest in the horse, and insisted I should own one-half of him. I said that I preferred to only own one-third in case 1 purchased the horse. So after some controversy as to just what Interest each should own in the stallion in case I made the purchase, it was finally agreed that he (Metealfe) should own two-thirds and I one-third interest. Mr. Metcalfe then stated he would give me $20,000 for two-thirds in t-rest in Artillery in case I the stallion in case I made the purchase, it purchased him. The tollowing day Mr. Met. calfe came to my office and we perfected the arrangements on the above, escribed basis. Mr. Metealte then stated he wished to go to his bank and ascertain if he had $20,000 there on deposit. He soon returned and advised me his bank account was all right, and asked me it I wanted a draft then for the money, I said to him it would be time enough after I purchased the horse. So with this understanding, I started to Dobb's Ferry, N. Y., and on arhad never seen before and had never commnnleated with him by letter or otherwise. I soon made known to Mr. Downey my hasl filly, Miss Liberty. This I think was on Janunry 23rd, and on January 26th Mr. Metealfe arrived lu New York City, bringing with him a dratt for $20,000, and ou the following day he (Metcalie) endorsed the draft over to me in payment for two-thirds interest in Artillery and the filly, Miss Liberty. These are the lacts tounded upon trnths, and I merely write this for publication to show the public that they are laboring under manntactured information. Now I will herein mention cartain facts which I think will verify my statement.

In Mr. It. B. Metcalfe's statement which was published in Kentncky Stock Farm under date of June 16, 1887, he states: "After seeing Mr. Downey he telegraphed me to virtue. My friends to whom I have recome on to New York, that he had purchased the horse, but did not state the price paid. I started at once for New York, prepared to pay the maximum figures, $50,000,"

I also copy from Kentucky Stock Farm, in their issue under date January 27th, the foliowing: "We have seen the New York drait issued by the Fayette National Bank for $20,coo, the snm Mr. Metcalfe pays for a two-thirds interest."

Now, first you will notice Mr. Melcalfe states that I dld not wire him what the price was that I agreed to pay Mr. Downey for Artillery, and yet he has issued and taken to New York in his possession a draft for $29,000, which he endorses over to me for two-thirds interest in the stailion and filly. Next I wish you to notice the fact that he carries to the Kentucky Stock Farm office the draft for $20,-000, and advises them that he gave that amount for two-thirds interest in Artillery, and remember this was done after he had received my telegram, in which he (Metcalfe) states I did not advise him of the price I was to pay Mr. Downey for the horse. Strange, indeed, he would go to the hank and get a draft for just $20,000 and take it to the Kentucky Stock Farm office and say to them I pay this amount for two-thirds interest in Artillery, when at the same time he positively states I dld not advise him what I was to pay for the horse to Mr. Downey.

on arrival there he turns said dratt over to me in payment for his interest in the stallion, and eails at your office to report the purchase of the horse, but only states what he paid for his two-thirds interest, and so reports to you the amount he paid for his interest.

herein stated verifies my statement beyond schooner. Free trial bottles of this and myself that our lawyers should settle the matter. My lawyer advised me the matter had been settled. I think this was on or about May 25th, and a day or so after this date R. B. Metcalle came to the stables where I was in charge of my stock and called me ont and voluntarily stated in these words: This matter is settled, and so far as I am concerned I will never open my month about it again.

Shortly after this conversation I wrote Mr. Metealfe a note concerning a mare which I had returned to Artillery, she having been bred and had again come in season, to which I received the foliowing reply:

"Mr. T. C. Jefferson—Dear Sir: In regard to the refusal of the boy to breed the mare I would say that I was luformed by Mr. Strader that the mare was very old, had been hred all last year without getting in teal, and has been hred to Artillery five times. Now, in justice to the horse, I do not think you ought to ask anything more, particularly as there will he no charge on her. If you desire to substitute another mare in her stead you can do so. There is certainly some mistake about my saying I did not intend to settle with you. I ouly said to Mulligan that there would be hut little difference between us, that I had some small bills against you, and you some against me, and that we conid settle them onrselves at any time, which I will be pleased to do, say to-morrow morning at 8 o'clock at my house. I regret that I did not return your book. I started twice to bring it, but it was raining hoth times, and for fear of getting it damaged I left it, and I did not go to town to-dav. I hope there is no cause now or nover will be for any unfriendly feeling between us. Yours,

R. B. METCALFE."

I merely quote Mr. Metcalie's conversation ceived the following reply:

I merely quote Mr. Metcalie's conversation with me and publish his letter because since JUDGE SANFORD TAYLOR, of Oldham this matter was settled he has pursued just the reverse from what he voluntarily obligated himself he would do. I refer to his conversation with me at the stable where I keep my horses which I have in training.

Some two or three of the papers have been making a great to-do about the public having a right to know what price I paid Mr. Downey for Artillery. It is no one's husiness what price I paid for Artillery, and does not in any way concern the public whether it be five or thirty thousand dollars, and, 'forthermore, the fact that I soid two-thirds luterest in the horse for $20,000, does not concern the public, as the transaction, as I have given it, is verified throughout by Mr. Metealfe's own actions and statements, which I have hereiu fully explained. Yours, T. C. JEFFERSON.

The Man Who Saved Victoria's Life. Incorrect statements have been published respecting the navai officer who saved the queen's life in 1834. Here are the real facts. His name was Joseph Saunders and he was master of the eutter Emerald. The mishap took place as that craft was entering Plymouth harbor with the late Duchess of Kent and Princess Victoria on board. The princess was asking Saunders to look after a favorite dog, when a steamer collided with the cutter, earrying away her rigging and taking the mast. Exclaiming, "For God's sake come forward, or you will both be killed!" Saunders promptly hurried the distinguished party out of danger, and would not allow them to be transferred to a boat until the mast was made safe. The duchess and princess were duly grateful, and on Saunders taking the dog of his future queen to the hotel at which she stayed at Plymouth sho inquired the cause of the accident. His reply was that when admirals and other superior officers were on board they took the charge of the vessel ont of his hands; to which the princess retorted, with characteristic common sense, that if there were not so many commanding officers disasters would not occur. She also added that when she was on board he was never to give up the charge of his vessel. The Duchess of Kent presented Sannders with a prayer book and Bible. He got no special pension or pay for saving the life of her present majesty, and has long been dead. Two daughters are at present living at Southsea and two grandsons are in the navy.-London World.

Shooting at Movable Targets.

There is a good deal of talk of rifle shooting at movable targets these days. Most people imagine that in order to hit anything with a rifle a man must have a solid rest and take a long aim. Such is not the fact. The best rifle shots at game seldom take a rest, except at long distances. After a little practice it is as easy to hit a slowly moving object with a rifle as a still one. The secret of all shooting is to get your gun in the right place and then let her go in a tlash. It is quite as easy to kill a running rabbit with a rifle as with a shotgun, but so few persons have tried it that it is not widely known. There are several gentlemen in this city who are experts with the rifle, but not good bunters. They shoot altogether at targets .-Lincoln (Neb.) Democrat.

The quiet little town of Chester was visited hy a destructive fire yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock flames were discovered in the residence of G. W. Holliday. All the insurance is in the London and Liverpool and Glohe, Dr. John T. Fleming, agent. The frame was unoccupied, Mr. Beuly having moved out of it only the day before.

The two story frame residence of Mr. Roe Carr, which is on the south side of the street rallway, and directly opposite the burned buildings, was saved only by the hardest of work. It was on fire several times, but dampened carpets were thrown over the roof, and a "bucket hrigade" kept the fimes down elsewhere.

It is a fortunate thing that the town is so sparsely built, otherwise the loss would have undoubtedly have been much heavler.

THE COMTE DE PARIS IN THE FRANCO-GERMAN TROUBLE.

Failure of the Figure to Create a Sensation-A Frenchman Out of France is Speedily Forgotten-Disturbances Over a Battle Anniversary-Foreign.

London, July 13.—The report published in the Paris Figaro a few days ago of an alleged interview between the Crown Prince of Prussia and the Comte de Paris appears from a careful perusal of the continental press to have fallen flat and entirely failed of its object as a sengation. Who is there se silly and ignorant of European politics as to believe that the crown prince said to the Comte de Paris (if indeed he said anything te him at all), that the formation of a French ministry in which Gen. Boulanger should be a prominent factor would strain the relations between France and Germany to the point of a rupture?

wife the crown prince were authorized to voice the sentiments of Germany in such a manner, or in fact in any manner which he is not in possession of authority to do, he would undoubtedly select an entirely differ ent auditor. Sending verbal messages to th French government through the Comte de Paris, of all persons in the world, is quite as ridiculous as would be an application to Mr. Parnell for presentation to the queen, and no one knows this better than the crown prince.

Paris see their cause so rapidly becoming hopeless and its influence so steadily dying out that they easerly seize upon any pre-tense to bring their claims or candidate into notice. A Frenchman out of France is so speedily forgotten that after the lapse of a few years the fickle multitude would consider it an impertinence on the part of even the Comte de Paris to attempt to recall himself to their memory. The so-called demonstration on the Isle of Jersey was ludicrously disproportioned to the expectations of the legitimatists, and the reports as to its extent and the enthusiasm manifested were tremendously exaggerated.

There were very few Frenchmen of any importance present, while the residents of the island, of course, simply hailed the occasion as one affording them an opportunity to turn an honest penny from the visitors, and would have greeted the advent of a circus with equal gratification, accompanied by the same manifestations of rejoicing and display of holiday attire. The most ardent shouters of "Vive le Roi" were English toadies, who felt the occasion to be one by which they could be brought into some small notoriety in their special circles and whose proudest boast it will ever be that they have spoken a few words with, or shaken the hand of the exiled scion of royalty. This is the verdict of impartial visitors of the scene and the opinion is generally expressed by them that the affair had as little political influence as a horse race or a cricket match.

Battle Anniversary.

BELFAST, July 13.—The anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was celebrated here to-day throughout Ulster with unusual fervor, and was productive in many places of a great amount of disturbance. At Belfast Rev. Dr. Kane, grand master of the Orangemen, presided over a monster meet-Violent speeches were made, and every indication pointed to an outbreak. The excitement is very intense. The city is overflowing with people who come from the neighborhood to celebrate the day. Small riots have occurred, and the police have had to be reinforced to prevent a general fight between the Orangemen and the Catholica.

The Queen at Osborne.

LONDON, July i3.—The queen left Windsor Castle this morning by special train for Southampton, where she embarked on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert for the Isle of Wight. She will remain at Osborne until the last week in August, when the court will be removed to Balmoral. Her majesty is in the best of health and spirits, and recognized with smiles and bows the plaudits of the crowds that witnessed her departure from Windsor and her arrival at Southampton,

A Dreadful Calamity.

St. Petersburg, July 13. - A terrible calamity has visited Witepsk, in Northern Russia, destroying 412 dwellings and business houses, the police offices, six school buildings and a bank. Thousands of people are rendered homeless and many lost their lives in their efforts to escape the flames. The loss is stated at 2,000,000 roubles.

William Tells Discounted.

FRANKFORT, July 18.—The rifle meeting here has been a great success. The results have shown that the old superiority of Swiss marksmen is gone, the bulk of the prize wanners being southern Germans. Marksman Gustars won the Emperor's cup.

An Odd Boycott.

DUBLIN, July 13.—The Carrigaholt regatts has been abandoned. This course was adopted by the promoters of the regatta, owing to a boycott because Mr. Burton, a magistrate, whose tenants are involved in the plan of campaign to resist eviction, had presented a cup for a prize.

The French Ministry Victorious. Paris, July 13.—The ministry is victorious. The vote on the government's motion was finally carried by 382 to 120. Floquet resigned as president of the chambers. Gen. Cluseret is rumored to be organizing a revolutionary party in Paris.

The Deadly Toy Pistoi.

CINCINNATI, July 13.—Little Johnny Draper, aged thirteen, son of Dr. Draper, clerk of Chief of Police Deitsch, died last night, On the Fourth of July Johnny burned his hand in firing a toy pistol, but nothing was bought of the injury until yesterday, when symptoms of blood poisoning developed, and last night he died of lockjaw. He was a bright, active little fellow, and his death is a sad blow to his bereaved parents, Disaster to Mining Towns.

Railroad Wreek.

NEW YORK, July 13.-The 5:80 express from Camden for Atlantic City yesterday evening collided with a freight train at Sewall station, below Woodbury. The express train, which was crowded with exoursionists, was crossing from the south bound to the north bound track at the time of the accident. Seven passengers, residents of Philadelphia were injured, one seriously. Five freight cares were wrecked.

Telegraphing From a Comn. GUADALAJARA, Mex., July 18. - Yesterday the body of Juan Aminte, a telegraph operator, lay in its coffin in church ready for burial. A companion near it heard regular taps inside, which clearly ticked out, "I am alive." Surprised, he gave the alarm, and the telegrapher, weak but still alive, was rescued and restored.

Anarchists Abandon Hope.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Gruenhut, the Socialist, says their friends have abandoned hope of a new trial for the Anarchists. About twenty-five persons will be sent through the state to get signatures to petitions to the The fact is that the legitimatist press of governor to commute the sentence to life imprisoument.

Montreal's Police Force.

MONTREAL, July 13.-Some startling disclosures of the crooked methods of the Montreal police are to be made, Several months ago charges were made that implicated over one-third of the police force. They were charged with robbing passen-gers, extortion, blackmail and immoral and even worse treatment of female prisoners. The matter will be laid before the council Wednesday and the specific charges published. It will probably result in the disbandment of the entire police depart-

Arrested on Arrival.

New York, July 18 .- On the arrival of the steamship Bohemia from Hamburg today, a United States deputy marshal boarded her and arrested Israel Goldman, alias Jeudei Chemlniker, who, it is alleged, fled from Odessa, Russia, with 20,000 rubles belonging to his employer.

Orangemen in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 13 .- The Orangemen of this city celebrated their historical victory by a picnic at Desplaines. They presented a fine appearance, as the different lodges in procession, marched through the streets en route to the depot.

Still a Legal Hope.

NEW YORK, July 13.-Counsel for Mrs. Cignarole were informed by telegraph from Albany last night that Governor Hill had stated to the New York ladies who besought him to commute the sentence of the murderess that he would not interfere so long as legal remedies remained open. The case will therefore be taken to the court of appeals.
